MESSAGE

FROM CEO & CHAIR

Dear Friends,

There is a moment in the book of Nehemiah when the Jewish people, having returned from exile, begin rebuilding Jerusalem. Side by side, they rebuilt the broken city. In doing so, they restored not only its walls but also their shared identity and purpose. Once the walls were complete, they gathered to learn from their teacher, Ezra the scribe, who read aloud from the Torah, reminding them not just who they were, but who they were called to become.

In our time, we too are living through a season of rebuilding. Israel continues to reckon with loss and trauma in the wake of October 7. The rebuilding ahead – emotional, civic, spiritual, and personal – is vast. This year's Impact Report highlights key moments over the past year of our work, because it is in moments, both quiet and transformative, that rebuilding begins.

Our partners at Yemin Orde and Village Way Educational Initiatives (VWEI) have been present for these moments in powerful ways. In the wake of national trauma, they have led efforts in healing, education, and civic renewal, anchored in the belief of Ezra that rebuilding society begins with education.

At Yemin Orde, teens who arrived last fall carrying the weight of war found stability, belonging, and renewed purpose. In one such moment, students revived the long-dormant Yemin Orde apiary; restoring beehives, capturing swarms, and stabilizing colonies as a living symbol of healing and resilience through hands-on connection to the land.

When schools in northern Israel reopened in March after 16 months of war, VWEI was on the ground equipping educators with trauma-informed tools to rebuild fractured school communities. Through this effort, and thousands of hours training teachers across the country, VWEI expanded its total reach to 51,000 students. Their work this year showed that healing happens not in isolation, but through trusted educators, shared vision, and the steady work of rebuilding from within.

Here in the U.S., our community rose to meet the moment as well. With your generosity, ImpactIsrael reached its ambitious $9.8 million Annual Campaign goal in 2024; funding our partners at their highest level ever, and is on pace to do the same in 2025. But more than the numbers, it was the spirit behind them: you reached out, brought in new friends, and stood with us again and again.

This year was not just about sustaining what was. It was about beginning again. Our partners are not only educating children, they are restoring the moral infrastructure of a wounded society. And with your help, they have the resources to do so with courage, consistency, and care.

As in the days of Nehemiah, the rebuilding will take time. But it is already underway in classrooms, in young hearts, and in the voices of educators who refuse to give up on the future.

Thank you for being builders in this moment. Together, we are helping reimagine what is possible for Israel's next generation.

With gratitude,

Ben Marchette
CEO

Dale Okonow

A YEAR OF OUR WORK

2024-2025

The 2024-2025 school year was one of both tremendous growth and deep challenge. Despite the uncertainty and loss, this year was also marked by powerful milestones: new programs took root, celebrations returned, and partnerships deepened. From emotional healing seminars to tikkun olam initiatives the Village Way philosophy remained a guiding light for youth and educators. Our work at ImpactIsrael ensured that these programs could continue, evolve, and meet the growing needs of communities navigating uncertainty. The timeline on the following pages captures the spirit of a year defined by perseverance, connection, and the belief in every young person's potential.

Village Way Educational Initiatives

JUL SEMINARS IN THE NORTH AND SOUTH

VWEI launched a three-day seminar to support principals of schools in the Gaza envelope and in the north to share strategies for caring for themselves and their students.

OCT ONE YEAR LATER

VWEI marked one year since the October 7 attacks by creating "Doing Good for Them," a national campaign encouraging youth to honor the memory of those lost by volunteering, supporting evacuees, and creating spaces of healing and solidarity.

NOV ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The 10th annual Village Way Conference brought together 700+ educators to explore the theme "Reclaiming the Spirit" over discussions, activities, and speakers.

Yemin Orde Youth Village

SEP BACK TO SCHOOL

The school year began under the shadow of ongoing security threats, but students at Yemin Orde returned to a campus fortified with new bomb shelters thanks to ImpactIsrael's emergency campaign.

OCT VISIT TO THE PRESIDENT'S SUKKAH

President Isaac Herzog and First Lady Michal Herzog welcomed 40 teens from Yemin Orde to their residence for Sukkot and recognized them for their courage and resilience during a difficult time.

NOV SIGD CELEBRATION

This year's celebration of Sigd, a traditional Ethiopian Jewish holiday, honored the memory of fallen IDF soldier and Ethiopian Israeli, Yonatan Tzur.

JAN HONORING RETURN OF HOSTAGES

Students across our VWEI schools gathered for moments of intense emotion as hostages came home from Gaza.

FEB MILESTONES TRIP TO RWANDA

Israeli principals participating in a VWEI fellowship traveled to Agahozo-Shalom, a youth village in Rwanda modeled after Yemin Orde. There, they connected with educators to learn about community resilience.

MAY BUILDING BRIDGES

VWEI facilitated a meeting of Muslim and Jewish educators from two Village Way schools. Despite differences, they connected through the shared language of the Village Way.

DEC FAMILY DAY

Family Day at Yemin Orde welcomed students' biological and chosen family members to the Village to celebrate all that they have accomplished.

FEB GRADUATES DAY

Alumni visited current students to share their personal stories of growth and achievement. 182 alumni were awarded scholarships to pursue higher education, reflecting ImpactIsrael's long-term investment in their success.

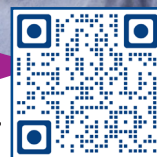

JUL DELAYED GRADUATION

The war with Iran forced youth at Yemin Orde back into shelters and placed graduation on hold. Despite the disruption, Yemin Orde held a graduation ceremony later in the summer, ensuring students and families still celebrated this important milestone.

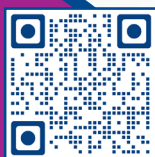

STUDENT SPOTLIGHTS

Sofia:

Sofia arrived at Yemin Orde after escaping the war in Ukraine with her family. The transition was overwhelming in a new country with a new language and facing a new reality. "My first year here was a mess," she says. "I told my mentor I needed help, and the next day, I started therapy." That access to consistent support changed everything. Sofia, now 16, has grown more than she imagined. Whether she's studying art, playing volleyball after school, or serving as a student leader, Sofia says she feels grounded and hopeful about the future. "Hope is when people believe in you and support you. And here at Yemin Orde, I feel that support everywhere."

Tesfahoon:

Born in Ethiopia and raised in Israel, he had always gone by "Yosef" to make things easier. But at the Village, surrounded by a supportive and accepting community, he began to reclaim his full identity. "Tesfahoon means hope [in Amharic]," he says. "My parents waited ten years in Ethiopia to come to Israel. I was born the year we finally made it." Over time, Tesfahoon found his voice through service projects, music, and mentorship. Today, Tesfahoon speaks with pride about his name, his culture, and his future. "Here, you're never alone. This place helped me figure out who I am."

EDUCATOR SPOTLIGHTS

Sukiena:

Principal, Amal Zarzir High School

As principal of the first Bedouin technology high school in northern Israel, Sukiena leads with conviction, compassion, and vision. Under her guidance, Amal Zarzir has grown from just 15 students to 104, serving as a last chance school for youth facing behavioral and economic challenges. A participant in the Village Way Milestones fellowship, Sukiena embraced the Village Way philosophy, incorporating the values of tikkun olam and tikkun halev into her school's curriculum. Weekly facilitation and schoolwide commitment have transformed the school into a true community of meaning, where students know they are cared for well beyond graduation. "I believe the next generation of leaders will be from my school," Sukiena says confidently.

Daniel:

Village Way Facilitator

For the past five years, Daniel has served as a facilitator with Village Way Educational Initiatives, supporting a wide range of educational communities across Israel. In addition to his school-based facilitation, Daniel leads workshops for IDF officers and commanders and facilitates in the Milestones fellowship for principals in the Gaza envelope. To Daniel, the work of Village Way is about reclaiming the spirit of education. "Our mission is not to teach something new," he says, "but to remind our wonderful educators why they chose this incredibly important work."

SUPPORTER SPOTLIGHTS

Our Giving Society members are a diverse and growing community of donors who contribute $1,800 or more annually to support ImpactIsrael's mission. They include institutions, individuals, and families from across North America united by a shared belief in elevating at-risk youth in Israel through education.

Eric & Hope:

Eric and Hope Haron are active members of the Philadelphia Jewish community.

What inspires you about the work of ImpactIsrael?

We visited Yemin Orde with our children in 2018 when we traveled to Israel with our family for my parents' 50th anniversary. A good friend had recommended we visit the Village, and we are so thankful we listened and made the trip. It was amazing to see the campus and witness the incredible work that ImpactIsrael does. What was most rewarding though was getting to speak to the students, hear their stories, and learn how Yemin Orde has changed their lives.

Why did you make your first gift to ImpactIsrael?

We have been involved with several Jewish and Israeli organizations, but ImpactIsrael was unique to us in many ways. Giving kids hope and putting them on a better and more sustainable path is very meaningful to us.

How does being involved with ImpactIsrael align with your Jewish values?

Family, education, caring for others and ahavat Yisrael are all important values of our family. These are also at the core of ImpactIsrael's mission and part of why we are so grateful to be involved. We also love that in addition to working with Jewish communities, ImpactIsrael also reaches Arabs, Druze, and many others throughout the country.

David & Sandy:

David Nussbaum is a member of ImpactIsrael's Board of Directors, serving as Marketing Chair. He and his wife, Sandy, live in New York City.

What inspires you about the work of ImpactIsrael?

One of the world's greatest problems is the countless at-risk teens losing their way in life. In a small country like Israel, every soul is so important to the future of the state. Thus the amazing work that ImpactIsrael does to help these kids become confident, educated, and happy young adults is miraculous.

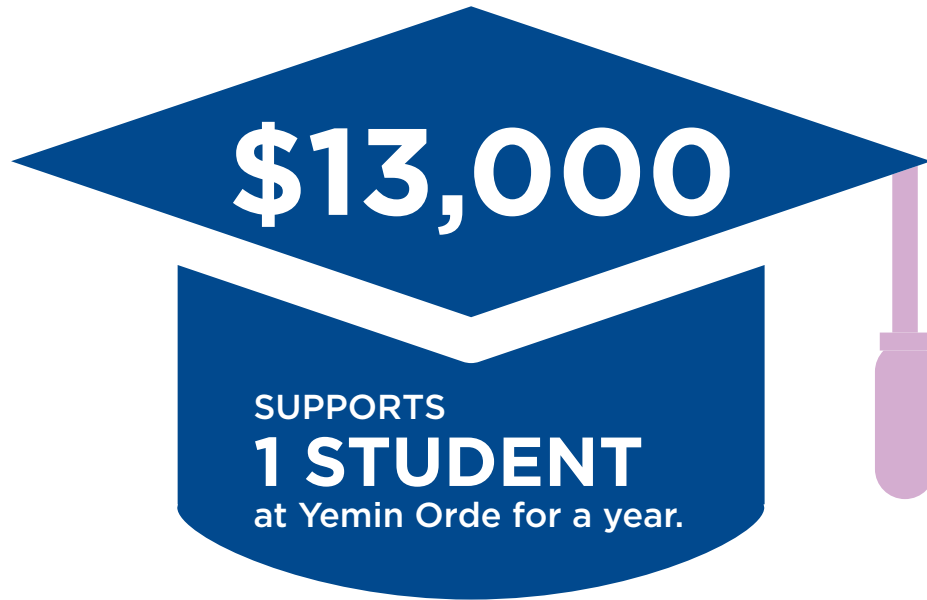

Why did you make your first gift to ImpactIsrael?

I wanted to invest in these teens and play some small part in helping them rebuild their lives.

How does being involved with ImpactIsrael align with your Jewish values?

In the Torah, tikkun olam is written with the explanation that we all need to do something in the world that will not only fix any damage, but will also improve upon it. This value and definition of tikkun olam is central to how I try and live my life.

In Their Words

"Yemin Orde helps to heal broken souls."

- LIRAN, Yemin Orde Class of 2021

"We are all educators from the south who have had a difficult year and this [VWEI] seminar helped us be better educators and learn how to support our students."

- MICHAL, principal at a school in Ashkelon

"When a student succeeds in something, I'm here; when there's a problem, I jump in very quickly. We [counselors] are there to provide all the tools to help these kids grow."

- SHMUEL, Alum and Counselor at Yemin Orde

"It's so important that we support these educators and continue to bring their spirit back."

- SHIRA, VWEI Facilitator

"The educators and staff helped me open up and share about my emotions. I never thought I'd be able to talk about my pain until now."

- ASHER, Yemin Orde Class of 2025

LEADERSHIP LISTING

With you all the way

The Giving Society brings together our community of philanthropic investors who contribute $1,800 or more annually. We recognize and celebrate their commitment to Israel's youth and educators. This group of supporters share the values of supporting a strong future for the nation of Israel by uplifting the lives of our most at-risk youth.

The L'Chaim Society is an exclusive program for members to make a legacy commitment to impact the State of Israel through value driven education and support using the Village Way methodology. The name L'Chaim has multiple meanings. Not only is it the traditional exclamation of celebration it also honors Dr. Chaim Peri, the Village Way's visionary founder.
